Claim Objections

1. Claim 5 is objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c) as being in improper form because a multiple dependent claim 5 is depended on multiple dependent claim 4. See MPEP § 608.01(n). Accordingly, the claim 5 is not been further treated on the merits.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-4 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ueda et al (US 6,133,558) in view of Yoshino et al (US 6,172,348). Ueda discloses, figure 19, a microwave steam heater comprising a first high frequency heating step for high frequency heating the frozen commodity to the vicinity of a melting temperature of the frozen commodity (col. 14, lines 21-23); Ueda discloses a temperature sensor (23) and inherently performs a temperature detection step for measuring the temperature of the frozen commodity during the first high frequency heating step (col. 14, line 22) and inherently detecting that the measured temperature has reached the melting temperature (col. 14, line 25); a steam supplying step for starting a steam, when forming a film of dew condensation on the surface of the frozen commodity (Col. 14, lines 24-29). However, in embodiment of figure 19, Ueda does not disclose a second high frequency heating step for high frequency heating the frozen commodity after the start of the steam supplying. In embodiment of figure 21, Ueda discloses a second high frequency heating step for high frequency heating the frozen commodity after the start of the steam supplying (col. 14, lines 58-60). It would have been obvious to one ordinary skill in the art to make a second high frequency heating step for high frequency heating the frozen commodity after the start of the steam supplying in order to provide a smooth cooking the object from the frozen state to the melt heating state. With regard to claim 6, it would have been obvious to one ordinary skill in the art to stop and reset the high frequency from the first high frequency to second high frequency when start the steam supplying in order to change the high frequency from high heat to medium heat for suitable to heat the object.

Response to Amendment

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-6 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
